Inside the LEGO® Lab!

2010. The city is deserted — the dinosaurs are everywhere — and only a small team of brave heroes can save it all! Your LEGO Club Magazine reporter managed to snap these photos so you can be prepared. Tell everyone you know — Dino Attack is coming!

7475 Fire Hammer vs. Mutant Lizards

Spino and his Fire Hammer take on some of the worst of the reptilian invaders. These dinos all have strange powers, and what they don't know is that they're not the most powerful thing in the Fire Hammer. Spino is equipped with a Multi-Mode Launcher so Spino can change from remote to energy to whatever he needs to stop the dinos!

Other products available in DINO ATTACK range include:

- 7473 Irons Predator versus Mutant Lizard
- 7476 Urban Predator versus Boulder
- 7477 T-1 Tracked Vehicle versus T-Rex

7476 Irons Predator vs. T-Rex

When the T-Rex attacks with its laser vision, the only hope to stop him is the Irons Predator. Its cryothermic cannon can put the dino in a deep freeze, and its T-1 Kinetic Launcher turns the T-Rex's own power against it. With Spino, Pigger and Viper at the controls, make — make Earth a better place!

DINO ATTACK

The Durmstrang School of Wizardry arrives in style!

A magical ship emerges from the lake by Hogwarts Castle! Professor Karkaroff is here and he has brought Victor Krum, Harry Potter's newest rival, to take part in the Triwizard Tournament.

Climb aboard the Durmstrang Ship and discover its hidden traps and treasures! With removable decks, an opening cabin and more, this wizard's ship is full of surprises from the top of its crow's nest to the tip of its anchor.

Secret Compartment

Full action plans

It's all in the details! A wizard's potion room in the cabin, the captain's deck and the other quarters are just waiting to be explored.

Harry Potter

Get ready to set sail for adventure. The Triwizard Tournament is about to begin!

KNIGHTS Kingdom

*The Kingdom of Morcia: a land of beauty, magic and adventure.
Since Vladek's defeat, Morcia has enjoyed a time of peace and happiness.*

But peace rarely lasts long.

*He's gone!
Vladek the Dark Knight
has escaped!*

*Knights of Morcia, Vladek has returned! He has built a mighty fortress in the lost Kingdom of Antoria
and created a new army
of Shadow Knights.*

We've stopped Vladek before. Your Majesty - we'll do it again!

*The Heart of the Shield shall grant you new armour, shields and swords.
Learn to use them, for this will be your most dangerous quest yet!*

"Sir Darius, with this sword and your great wisdom, no foe can defeat you!"

"Sir Sauron, your shield and armour will make you stronger than ever before!"

"Sir Rastan, your acrobatic skills have been increased a hundredfold!"

"And brave Sir Jaska, your speed is legendary. Now you will be faster still!"

Hey, Shadow Knight!
Mind if we borrow your battle wagon for a secret mission?

I'll bet you've never seen a Knight of Morcia do THIS before!

Tim will teach me to open my big mouth!

Hah! A good job
of distracting
the Rancors!

Let's go, knights!
We've got to find the Dark Fortress before it's too late!

I wonder if the greatest danger is what's behind us...
or what still lies ahead.

Ho ho ho ho!
When my mask of dark
magic is complete...
Morcia will be mine!

LEGO® Hot Rod Building

Advice From Monster Garage.

by Jeff James

The LEGO® Magazine caught up with custom-motorcycle builder Jesse James – star of the Discovery Channel's Monster Garage TV program – to ask a few questions about building cool cars and motorcycles with LEGO bricks.

Q: What sort of toys did you play with when you were a kid?

A: My parents were antique dealers so I had a lot of old Marx tin toys...and a bunch of LEGO® bricks.

Q: What advice would you give to a kid who wants to build the coolest LEGO hot rod he can?

A: Don't be afraid to build stuff that's not in the pictures. Build what's in your head.

Q: Do you prefer to work on custom cars or custom bikes?

A: Bikes!

Q: What advice would you give kids who want to make their own real hot rods or motorcycles someday?

A: The only way to find out if you can do it or not is to try!

Q: What was your favourite project on Monster Garage, and why?

A: I think the Flying car! Because not one person thought I could do it...but I knew it might work!

Q: If you could design your own LEGO set, what would you want to make?

A: When I was a kid I was obsessed with LEGO bricks. I would lay on the floor for hours and build stuff. I didn't know that I would apply what I learned playing with LEGO bricks to what I do now. So I think we should make sets that encourage kids to use LEGO bricks to build skills that will carry them later in life. Like a hot rod shop set where you can build your own rod, or a chopper set, or a low-rider set. Instead of giving clear cut instructions on how to do it, we should have people use their imagination and creativity to come up with stuff on their own!

Q: How about jumps? Did you ever send a LEGO motorcycle over any ramps?

A: No. It was too small for me to ride!

Q: Would you consider a LEGO building challenge against either a kid LEGO Master or a LEGO Designer/Master Model Builder?

A: Let's make a real chopper out of LEGO bricks! I know I can do it! I'll ride it!

Q: Do you think playing with LEGO bricks fuelled your interest in tinkering in the monster garage to create custom choppers?

A: If it wasn't for LEGO bricks there would be no Monster Garage. ■

STAR SPACED

Lucas' PRINCE OF EGIPT concept art for Episode II and earlier for Episode III, as well as Light & Magic. Right: A sketch of the new Republic cruiser, the CR-1.

Right

When it came time to create the look of Star Wars Episode III, the designers at LucasFilm had a tough job ahead of them. They had to create all-new vehicles and starships that matched the style of the classic Star Wars movies, while offering Fans something bigger and better than ever before.

Ryan worked on many of the vehicles for the new movie.

Ryan—Anakin's Jedi Starfighter was the first vehicle I designed. He said it was very neat to come up with what evolved into the TIE fighter. It looks very fast and manoeuvrable at the same time. I tried to make the ARC-170 Starfighter look like it came before the X-wing, but still be as cool.

Jawa Stock up on a ton of the Episode II LEGO models.

Jawa—The ARC-170 is a very cool-looking fighter. The designer put a lot of thought into it, showing how it would be built, and how it would be used. It's a really important step in the movie, and it's included in the book. It's a really cool design.

Ryan—For the Wheelbike, I wanted to give the Wheelbike some technology that was really different and looked like something that only they could come up with, and handle — something that required great strength to fly. At the same time, I wanted it to be really elegant to contrast with their roughness. General Grievous' wheelbike was a challenge. To design a vehicle that could go really fast over the ground but also climb and look like a scary, imposing machine. It's the villain's signature vehicle and has a really cool transformation.

Jawa—And of course he wanted to make sure that General Grievous' wheelbike could pull in its own "wings" so it's invisible legs just like the best thing.

"The ARC-170 is a very cool-looking fighter."

—Jawa (2002)

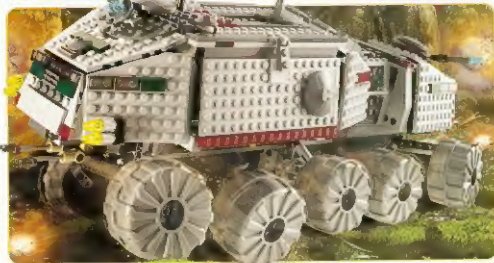

What about the other vehicle in the film?

Ryan—One of the other designers came up with the Droid Tri-fighter design, but it originally had two wings, not three. When we were looking at early animation tests, it was hard to tell it from the Jedi Starfighter from far away, so we changed its shape.

Jason—The Droid Tri-fighter was one of the most difficult Star Wars models to design. We had to get the shape just right while making it easy enough to build.

Ryan—The Clone Turbo Tank came from Joe Johnson's awesome design for a proto-A1-AT. I'm so glad George wanted to put it in the movie.

Jason—The Clone Turbo Tank is still so far from its cool-looking concept with one of wings to play with. The Blockade Battalion drops bombs sent from a long, narrow tank in. I think we got the look. Design just right.

"The Clone Turbo Tank came from Joe Johnson's awesome design for a proto-A1-AT."

—April 10, 2005

LEGO and Star Wars are a great combination and it's hard to get kind of making them.

Thanks to the talented designers at Lucasfilm and The LEGO Company, 2005 might just be the best year for Star Wars vehicles ever! ■

MONSTERS of METRU NUI!

Create these BIONICLE creatures
and uncover more secrets of Metru Nui.....

Protocalinn

According to legend the Protocalinns are monstrous amphibious beasts who appear roughly every one hundred years to wreak enormous destruction, actually disintegrating large portions of the Metru Nui coast line. Highly dangerous, the Protocalinns are among the most feared of all BIONICLE creatures.

You can build a protocalinn using parts from 8736 Toa Hordika Vakama, 8738 Toa Hordika Whenua, and 8740 Toa Hordika Mafu.

Frostelus

A new threat approaches Metru Nui. Mysterious icebergs have appeared and lurking within their depths are camouflaged creatures called Frostelus. What these beings want and why they are lurking so near to the city remains a mystery but it is doubtful they have come for the view. With the city of Metru Nui already vulnerable, the Frostelus are a powerful new threat.

You can build a Frostelus using parts from 8737 Toa Hordika Nokama, 8741 Toa Hordika Huu, and 8739 Toa Hordika Onewa.
